

Unable to Resist Auction Lure Women Bid High for Capitol Junk

One Pays Big Sum for Rug That Statesmen May Have
Says Rival Bidder.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—Uncle Sam has put one over on the junkman. Collecting a lot of truck scattered about the house office building, one of his representatives hired an auctioneer and a boy to go out yesterday and ring a bell.

Auction news travels swiftly, and in a little while an army of women had arrived. Some threadbare rugs over which statesmen might have tread; old water coolers of the type long outlawed; filing cabinets that might fit in a corner of the kitchen as a receptacle for pots, and old chairs on which no man could rest his weary bones, were gobbled up as quickly as it they had come from Westminster Abbey.

A little man in a brown derby bought a little faded screen after somebody had whispered it used to be before the open fireplace at Thomas Jefferson's home. It looked quite as old as that. A tall man, fifty years old, wearing a dark suit with green pencil stripes, bought a filing cabinet which long stood in Champ Clark's office, and counted it a bargain.

A woman, stuning in a new frock which reached below the tops of her boots and in a big black hat with a red bird anchored on the starboard side, paid $19.50 for a rug out of the Speaker's lobby. "Look at the feet that have travelled over it," she exclaimed as she boosted the price the last two bits.

"And look at the dust they left," said a rival as she glibly bidding at $19.25.

TEST IS REFUSED FOR TIERNAN BABY

Professor Hoped to Show
He Was Not Father.

CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—John P. Tiernan, professor of law in Notre Dame University, his wife and baby, Billy, whose father, Mrs. Tiernan says, is Harry Poulton, haberdasher of South Bend, Ind., returned to South Bend yesterday after a futile effort to get Dr. Albert Abrams, California scientist, to make a private blood test in support of Tiernan's claim that he is not the father.

With a decision expected Saturday in the paternity suit at South Bend, Dr. Abrams refused to make the test without court instructions. Poulton refused to submit to the test. Prof. Tiernan said if Poulton is freed of the charge he would continue his efforts to prove his former friend is Billy's father.

While here Prof. Tiernan said the impulse which impelled him to question publicly the paternity of his wife's third child was based on a belief in the "single standard" of morals. "I submitted my wife and myself to the ugly glare of publicity solely that justice might be

BENNY LEONARD SIGNS UP— WITH RAYMOND HITCHCOCK.

Greatest Lightweight Sleep Producer Will Try to Keep 'Em Awake
in 'Hitchy Koo, 1922."

Benny Leonard has signed for a part in "Hitchy Koo, 1922," under direction of the Shuberts. It was announced yesterday. The lightweight champion of the world will appear as a principal character in the Raymond Hitchcock revue and not as a specialty to draw the customers, it was said.

"Leonard convinced me the night of the fight with Lew Tendler that he is an artist as well as a pugilist," Lee Shubert said yesterday. "The man moves with the grace of a panther, and his foot work that night was worthy of the Ballet Russe."

Benny is a dancer, since all boxers go through that phase of training to perfect footwork, which is Leonard's forte in ring combats. Of good appearance and cultivated manner, it is predicted he will please his followers in the theatre as he has in the ring. Mr. Shubert admitted that while the champion will have a regular part there will be one big prize fight scene with Benny in lights and with the mite on.

"Hitchy Koo, 1922" is due for presentation the latter part of November.

WOMAN HAD MILLIONS, BORROWED $50,000

Executors of Mrs. Booth Estate Ordered to Pay Back Money.

Executors of the estate of Mrs. Angli M. Booth, widow of the founder of the Ward Line, were ordered by the Surrogate's Court yesterday to pay the United States Mortgage and Trust Company the $50,000 which Mrs. Booth borrowed, and take back the $175,000 in Liberty bonds given as collateral.

The discovery of the loan came as a surprise to the Surrogate, as Mrs. Booth was extremely wealthy, leaving an estate valued at $10,000,000.
